

Vision Statement

TelEvolution has a simple and unique vision; to change the telephony industry on a very large scale. TelEvolution's vision is bold - to provide the 99% of telephone users who have not yet embraced VoIP with a seamless migration strategy, allowing them to use the Internet and their existing telephone together to make free calls anywhere in the world.

TelEvolution's goal is to utilize the flexibility, control and power of the Internet within the VoIP framework, making phone calls free, just like e-mail. The voice world has not yet embraced this concept, and has overlaid traditional voice services and costs over the Internet infrastructure. TelEvolution embraces the Internet philosophy of freedom and flexibility with telephony, developing true Voice over IP solutions that are easy to use and feature rich. PhoneGnome™, the first of TelEvolution's product set, is an enabler of this vision.

TelEvolution products give people unprecedented power and control over their communications experience. TelEvolution solutions empower customers to choose what features and services they want and from which vendors. Most telephone service providers strive to lock in their customers to specific plans and features. TelEvolution strives to give customers choice.

Customers are not limited to the features and services offered in a specific geographical region. PhoneGnome makes telephone service global, enabling customers to select services from any provider in the world.

TelEvolution's PhoneGnome remove the barriers holding VoIP migration back. With PhoneGnome, 911 emergency services work. TiVo, home alarm systems, and DSS receivers are compatible. There are no service interruptions or requirements to make changes. The telephone will still work when the power goes out and when the Internet is down. PhoneGnome doesn't even require a computer, no software to download or install, and no complicated microphone and speaker configurations are required. PhoneGnome owners enjoy free calls, without any of the hassle. TelEvolution offers true VoIP to everyone.